

BELGIAN ARMY OFFICERS ENTERED IN HORSE SHOW

Expect to Make Strong Bid for Honors, Particularly in Jump Events.

ONE ENTRY A MARVEL

Majesty Clears Hurdles Set Up Twenty Feet Apart With Apparent Ease.

The Belgian army officers are going to make a strong bid for the prizes and challenge cups to be competed for in the international events at the coming Horse Show, which will open in Madison Square Garden on November 16. They have entered four horses and three officers are coming here to ride during the show. These entries were received by cable last week. One jumper, Majesty, owned by Lieut. E. Van Dooren of the First Regiment of Lanciers, is a wonderful animal and has cleared high fences in the open. If he can repeat in the Garden he will be a hard horse to beat. One of his jumps has been over two hurdles placed about twenty feet apart, and he has cleared these two obstacles as easily as that he should do well in the broad-jumping competition which formerly has been won by the English.

Holland, England, Canada and the United States also will be represented in the international competitions for army officers, and it is probable that there will be representatives from still other countries.

The list of special prizes is growing. John R. Townsend has offered $150 in plate or money for the best woman's saddle horse to be ridden by women on side saddles. Saddle horses will be a big feature at the show and special attention has been paid to women's saddle horses. As only amateurs can compete for these specials, they are sure to attract well. This prize has some novel features in its conditions. The manes and tails of the horses shown are not to be braided and appointments will count 40 per cent. in selecting the winner. Appointments in a saddle horse class take in the saddle, habit, bat, whip, etc., so that the women who try for Mr. Townsend's prize will pay more than ordinary attention to appearance.

The entries for the show will close with James I. Hyde, secretary, 18 East Twenty-third street, next Thursday. It is expected that this year the record for number of entries will be beaten and that the quality of the horses shown will be much higher than in former years.

Frederick M. Davies announces that those who wish to obtain membership badges should apply at once. These badges cost $10 each and admit at all times to the Garden during the show. As in the last three years, the assembly room will be used exclusively for members and the concert hall will be a restaurant. Season tickets for the show are now on sale. The first four rows cost $30 each for afternoon and evening performances and $50 for the entire season. Judge Moore's horses this year will be a big feature at the show because he has in his stable several horses which he has purchased in England after the International Horse Show in London last June. One of these is a great runner, a bay with attractive markings. This is Bountiful, a hackney mare, 5 years old, which was exhibited first in the novice class at London and before the show ended had won the championship and the prize for the best in the show. Bountiful is a very showy horse with attractive markings.

The Garden this year will be very artistically decorated. When Alfred C. Vanderbilt and the present directors took control of the show and tried to make it popular again, many changes were made. From years the orange and black decorations had been used and patrons were tired of those colors. This year there was a transformation scene and the Garden was beautifully decorated with electric lights, garlands of flowers, trees and shrubs. This year there will be another change. A prominent decorative feature will be the use of the colors of the Belgian army. The Garden this year will be very attractive and visitors will be surprised at the beauty and attractiveness of the settings.

STUYVESANT KILLS CHARM

Breaks Old Precedent by Beating Morris—Score, 13 to 0.

The 1912 Stuyvesant team won the honor yesterday in defeating Morris by the score of 13 to 0 in the first football game of the season. Stuyvesant High School that ever gained a gridiron victory over the Bronx institution. The tallies were made by two dukes in the third period. Reichert, the Stuyvesant half-back, twice attempted to place a kick from the 20 yard line and each time with the identical result. The ball in its flight was partly blocked by the Morris tacklers, but returned sufficient speed to cross the Morris line, there to be felled on, first by Repko and then by Tamm for the touchdown that won the game. Except for this good fortune the game probably would have been a scoreless tie.

Neither team could gain any material distance against the other and out of the many attempts by Morris to forward pass, but two were completed and each for a loss. The best ground gainer on the field was Schuck of Stuyvesant. Violante made long line plunges, as did Lutz, the new Stuyvesant quarterback. Lutz showed all around ability and very likely will clinch his new position. Scott and Huggenwien were the mainstays of Morris. Scott carried the ball time and time again for gains on punts and tackle plays. The other tackle, Weinberg, played a fine defensive game.

The lineup:

Stuyvesant	Position	Morris
Tamm	Left end	O'Hara
O'Reilly	Left tackle	Scott
Reichert	Left guard	Reichert
Hogson	Center	Sokolower
Hofmann	Right guard	Weldner

Sport JETSAM and FLOTSAM

By W. B. H.

"Each section of the country has a strangely marked preference for color," says an automobile man. The same strangely marked preference is to be seen in eyes, collores, hosiery, paint, pousse cafes, Easter eggs and the aurora borealis.

Washington was so delighted with the showing of its ball team this year that the papers consented to print the records of former teams.

Ball players can't be blamed for a commercial spirit when newspapers make fuss over what a muffed try represents in dollars and cents. That sort of thing is worse than Snodgrass's muff.

Anyway Snodgrass and Merkle played the game with their hands and not with their pens.

If a man can walk from New York to Philadelphia in 23 hours 1 minute and 15 seconds how long would it take him to walk from Philadelphia to New York? The question is one not only of mathematics but incentive.

The Naval Academy eleven, though beaten by Lehigh, is believed to have an excellent lot of material. The only inference is that academic instruction has been allowed to override football matters.

A Samoan swimmer was in the water continuously for 37 hours and 12 minutes. If he tried that in New York waters somebody would charge him ocean rent.

"I see by the papers that a crack four-in-hand contains two horses named Moonlight and Honeymoon. I only wish I owned them so I could name the other two Daylight and Divorce."

"Chicken Feed Cheaper Now." It's still high enough in New York, according to our leading Broadway poultry fanciers.

Asking pardon for talking shop, but what a pleasure it would be to chronicle the names of those present at a world's series game at space rates.

Matteson Reaches Semi-finals.

This is Matteson's first year in Columbia tournaments and the way he has moved down his opponents has brought him forward as one of the most capable players on the campus. He is Herbert, Herbert, paired with I. W. Hadsell, '14, had little difficulty in beating R. S. and W. E. Burkhardt in the first round of the doubles, but in the second round they fell a victim to M. R. Conger and A. de Silver.
